

Name:

Unit 3 – LAC

Task 1

Job advertisements

Searching for a job can be difficult as you may need many years of experience which will delay you from getting a job which means there may be no running jobs by the time you have the experience. Being a physiotherapist also requires you going to university to study for minimum of 3 years, and if people have not done that, they may be moved to a different part of the physiotherapist world due to lack of experience. But because there is so many different types of physos you are always asked about your research before so the employer can see if this is the job you actually came for or if you mistaken it for something else.

You can find a job for physiotherapy:

Physiotherapist Work, jobs in London \(with Salaries\) | Indeed United Kingdom

Advertisements for similar jobs

When looking for a physiotherapy jobs there is many types such as a physiotherapist assistant, massage therapist and many others so you need to ensure you are researching and finding the correct job you want to work in to ensure that you will be happy with your job. It all is down to what you are most interested in and what exactly it is you want to do because some you may take call to book in the appointments. So, it is always you do good research into what the job is before applying.